

ABSTRACT

An immunogenic composition containing antigen-presenting cells and a heat shock protein or a heat shock fusion protein. Also disclosed is a method of using such a composition for enhancing cell-based immunotherapy, especially cancer immunotherapy.
5 The method includes administering the composition to a target site.

20387184.doc